Challenges

Everything has changed. Remote workers, juggling work with home life, are feeling isolated and frustrated. Those who've been furloughed are feeling disconnected and disengaged. Everyone has experienced a sudden disruption to all aspects of their world and have had to become agile in their ways of thinking, feeling and working. Could you and they do with some creative online support?

Our Approach

Our virtual solutions are delivered over popular video conferencing platforms, providing participants with a completely interactive and engaging experience. We use a combination of expert presentation, screen-sharing, regular breakout rooms for discussion, and action-planning. This has enabled us to make our learning accessible to remote and furloughed workers* across the globe.

All our solutions, from coaching to organisational roll-out, are available through our virtual platform.

*Furloughed workers can't work but CAN RECEIVE TRAINING, and it's vital that they don't get left out, so that when they return to work, they can hit the ground running.

Follow-up & ROI

First and foremost, our virtual workshops will help your people feel valued, connected and part of something bigger than just their daily existence. Having had a shared learning experience, they'll come away understanding themselves, their colleagues and their families better, with a renewed sense of well-being during a time that it's needed the most.
